PREFACE.

THE advanced ſeaſon of the year, at which the United States Regiſter for 1794 made its appearance, prevented its having ſo extenſive a circulation, as was anticipated. However, the favourable reception which it uniformly met, where it was ſeaſonably to be had, together with a full perſuaſion of the utility of the work, has induced the compilers to offer it to the public the enſuing year.

The ſame care has been taken in this that was in the firſt edition, to have every article perfectly accurate. For which purpoſe a conſtant regard has been had to the laws, whenever any particular has been enlarged, abridged, or, in any reſpect, altered. Several articles, which, in the firſt edition, were handed to the public, by way of appendix, are in this tranſpoſed under the departments with which they are connected.

With regard to the particular ſtates, no very material alterations are made. Laſt year's edition contained ſo much of their reſpective conſtitutions as relates to the organization of their governments, the qualifications requiſite for candidates to offices and for voters, and the times of elections; together with liſts of thoſe officers who are uſually re-elected, or hold their offices during good behaviour, viz. the executive and judiciary; the arrangements, and general officers of the militia, and a ſuccinct account of the public inſtitutions of every kind. Theſe ſubjects are liable to little variation, when once eſtabliſhed; but whenever any variation has tranſpired, the preſent edition is conformable to ſuch variation.

UNITED STATES REGISTER, &c.

Situation, extent, and boundaries of the United States.	Between	31° and 49° N. lat. 9 E. 24 W. long. from Philadelphia.

Being about 1250 miles in length; 1030 miles in breadth.

BOUNDED, agreeably to the limits eſtabliſhed by the Definitive Treaty of Peace between the United States and Great-Britain, ratified on the third day of September, 1783. On the northweſt and north by the highlands which lie to the caſtward of the river St. Lawrence, and which divide the rivers that fall into the St. Lawrence from thoſe that fall into the Atlantic Ocean; by Upper Canada, the river Iroquois or Cataraquay, the Lakes; (viz.) lake Ontario, lake Erie, lake Huron, lake Superior, the Long Lake, the Lake of the Woods; and a line drawn due weſt from the northweſternmoſt angle of the laſt mentioned lake to the river Miſſiſſippi: On the weſt, by the river Miſſiſſippi: On the ſouth, by Weſt-Florida, Eaſt-Florida, and St. Mary's river: On the eaſt, by the Atlantic ocean, the river St. Croix, and Nova-Scotia: Comprehending all iſlands within twenty leagues of the coaſt.

The late geographer of the United States, Mr. Hutchins, has computed that the ſurface contained within the above boundaries is one million of ſquare miles; which amounts to 640,000,000 of acres. Of this, agreeable to his computation, 51,000,000 of acres are water. So that the land within the United States amounts to 589,000,000 of acres. About three fifths of which is compriſed within the States that now compoſe the Union. The remainder, to wit, 220,000,000 of acres, lying weſt of the northern and middle States, and north-weſt of the river Ohio, and extending to the river Miſſiſſippi, together with an extenſive territory ſouth of the Ohio, originally ceded to the United States by North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, forms what is uſually denominated the Weſtern Territory.

A great proportion of this territory is yet claimed and occupied by the aboriginal natives. That part of it which is already purchaſed of them by the government of the United States, (as alſo that which is ſtill unpurchaſed, ſo faſt as the title of the preſent poſſeſſors may be hereafter extinguiſhed) is appropriated, as a ſinking fund for the relief of the principal of the national debt.

By SAMUEL BAYARD, Clerk.

By the judiciary laws, three courts are established in the United States, a supreme court, a circuit court, and a district court. The supreme court consists of a chief justice and five associate justices, any four of whom may be a quorum. This court, must hold, annually, two sessions at the seat of government.

Each state, as also the district of Maine, forms a district; and is denominated by the name of the state, which composes it. Of these districts, excepting Maine and Kentucky, are also formed three circuits, called the Eastern, Middle, and the Southern circuit. The eastern circuit consists of the districts of Vermont, New-Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode-Island, Connecticut and New-York; the middle circuit, of the districts of New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia; and the Southern circuit, of the districts of North-Carolina, South-Carolina, and Georgia. Each district has a judge called a District Judge, who, without any associate judge, forms the district court. He is required to hold, within his district, four sessions annually: he is also empowered to hold special sessions, if occasion require, either at the places established by law, for holding the stated terms, or elsewhere, at his discretion. The circuit court is composed of one of the judges of the supreme court, (or in some special cases, of two) and the district judge of any district where it is, hoc tempore, to be held. This court must hold two sessions annually in every district of each circuit, except Vermont, where it holds but one. Special sessions may also be held.

For the several jurisdiction of each of these courts, we must refer the reader to the ninth, tenth, eleventh, and thirteenth sections of the act of Congress, entitled, 'An act to establish the Judicial Courts of the United States,' passed the twenty-fourth day of September, 1789.

By an act of Congreſs paſſed the 8th of May, 1792, the Preſident is authoriſed to make ſuch diſcretionary allowances to the officers of the Exciſe as he ſhall deem reaſonable; not exceeding ſeven and an half per cent. of the amount of duties on diſtilled ſpirits, nor the annual ſum of 70,000 dollars. And by an act of the 5th of June, 1794, he is authoriſed to make ſuch further allowances as may appear reaſonable; not exceeding, by one-third, the allowances heretofore made.

This branch of Revenue is under the immediate direction and ſuperintendance of the commiſſioner of the Revenue. The accounts of the officers are however paſſed in the ſame form with all others; being firſt examined by the Auditor, and receiving their final ſettlement in the office of the Comptroller of the Treaſury.

On all goods, wares and merchandize, imported directly from China or India in ſhips or veſſels, which are not of the United States, teas excepted, twelve and a half per centum ad valorem.

And generally, ſeven and a half per cent. ad valorem, on all goods, wares and merchandize, not particularly enumerated in the above liſt; except the following, which, by expreſs proviſion in ſeveral ſtatutes, are permitted to be imported free from duty, to wit:

Bullion, tin, and copper in pigs, copper in bars, tin plates, old pewter, braſs tutenague, iron and braſs wire, copper in plates, ſalt petre, plaiſter of Paris, wool, dying woods and dying drugs, raw hides and ſkins, all undreſſed furs, the feaſtores of ſhips and veſſels, the cloths, books, houſhold furniture, tools and implements of trade and profeſſion of perſons coming to reſide in the United States, philoſophical apparatus ſpecially imported for any ſeminary of of learning, all goods intended to be re-exported to any foreign port or place in the ſame ſhip or veſſel in which they ſhall have been imported, lapis caliminaris, unmanufactured wool, wood, ſulphur, horſes, cattle, ſheep, ſwine, and other uſeful beaſts imported for breed, and during one year from the 22d May 1794, braſs cannon, muſkets and firelocks with bayonets ſuited to them, piſtols, ſwords, cutlaſſes, muſket balls, lead and gun-powder, and generally, all articles of the growth, product or manufactures of the United States.

The duties ſpecified in the above liſt reſpect goods, &c. imported in veſſels of the United States, except where foreign veſſels are particularly mentioned; and thoſe caſes excepted, an additional duty of ten per cent. is impoſed on all goods, wares and merchandize imported in foreign veſſels.

On the tonnage of ſhips or veſſels are impoſed the following duties, to wit.

On ſhips or veſſels of the United States when entered from any foreign port or place; and when entered in a diſtrict in one ſtate from a diſtrict in another ſtate (other than an adjoining ſtate on the ſea coaſt, or on a navigable river; and other than veſſels duly licenſed, employed in the coaſting trade, or in the bank or whale fiſheries, which are exempt from paying tonnage, while ſo employed, more than once in a year) having on board goods, wares and merchandize, taken in, in one ſtate, to be delivered in another, at the rate of ſix cents per ton. On ſhips or veſſels built within the United States ſince the 20th July 1789, but owned wholly or in part by foreigners, when entered from a foreign port or place, at the rate of thirty cents per ton; on all other ſhips or veſſels when entered from a foreign port or place, at the rate of fifty cents per ton: and on all ſhips or veſſels not of the United States, when entered in one diſtrict from another diſtrict, having on board goods wares and merchandize taken in, in one diſtrict, to be delivered in another, at the rate of fifty cents per ton.

To aſcertain the tonnage of a ſhip, if the ſame be double decked, take the length thereof from the fore part of the main ſtem to the after part of the ſtern poſt above the upper deck; the breadth at the broadeſt part above the main wales; half of which breadth account the depth, deduct from the length three fifths of the breadth; multiply the remainder by the breadth and that product by the depth; and divide the laſt product by ninety five. If the ſhip be ſingle decked, take the length and breadth as above directed; take the depth from the underſide of the deck plank to the ceiling in the hold; and deducting from the length three fifths of the breadth, multiply and divide as aforeſaid.

Duties on tonnage muſt be paid within ten days after report of the cargo made to the collector; and any maſter of a veſſel leaving or attempting to leave a port without paying ſuch duties forfeits five hundred dollars.

To determine the ad valorem rates of duty, add to the actual coſt of the goods twenty per cent. if imported from, or from beyond the Cape of Good-Hope; and ten per cent. if imported from any other place or country, excluſive of charges.

And on ſtills employed in diſtilling ſpirits from materials of the growth or produce of the United States, at any other place than a city, town or village; or at any diſtillery within a city, town or village, at which the ſtill (or ſtills, if more than one) ſhall be of leſs capacity than four hundred gallons, fifty four cents per annum for every gallon Engliſh wine meaſure of the content of ſuch ſtill including the head thereof.

It being at the option, however of the proprietor of any ſtill, to pay, in lieu of the aforeſaid yearly duty either ſeven cents for every gallon of ſpirits by him or her diſtilled; or, to pay at the rate of ten cents per gallon of the capacity for every month's employment of his or her ſtill; notifying ſuch choice to the proper officer, and obtaining a licenſe duly executed for the ſtipulated time.

Having enumerated the ſeveral duties payable on importations, on the tonnage of veſſels, and on domeſtic objects, it will be proper to ſay ſomething on the ſubject of drawbacks, bounties and other allowances.

On all goods, wares and merchandize, (ſpirits, manufactured tobacco, ſnuff and refined ſugar e cepted,) for which duties, on importation, to the amount of twenty dollars ſhall have been paid, or ſecured, there is allowed, if the ſame, within twelve calendar months, be re-exported to any foreign country, a drawback equivalent to the duties ſo paid or ſecured, deducting therefrom, as an indemnification for the expence which may have accrued by ſtorage, fees of officers, and the like, one per cent.

On ſpirits, if the ſame amount to one hundred and fifty gallons, and be exported in veſſels of thirty tons and upwards, an allowance, by way of drawback, for every gallon exported, equal to the impoſt per gallon according to the reſpective proofs, deducting, for the purpoſes aforeſaid, half a cent per gallon: And on ſpirits diſtilled within the United States from imported molaſſes, an additional allowance of three cents per gallon: to balance the duty on that article.

On pickled fiſh of the fiſheries of the United States, eighteen cents per barrel, and on other proviſions ſalted within the ſaid States, fifteen cents per barrel (provided the bounty amount to three dollars) at their exportation, as an equivalent for the duty on ſalt.

There is alſo an annual bounty payable on the laſt day of December, in lieu of a former allowance on dried fiſh, to the owners or agents of fiſhing veſſels legally qualified and employed in carrying on the bank, and other codfiſheries, and which ſhall be therein employed four months during the fiſhing ſeaſon, reckoning from the laſt day of February to the laſt day of November, one dollar and twenty cents for every ton of the actual admeaſurement of ſuch veſſels or boats, as are more than five, and leſs than twenty tons burthen, and ſhall have landed during the preceding ſeaſon a quantity of fiſh, which when cured and fit for exportation, ſhall be equal to twelve quintals for every ton of her ſaid admeaſurement; the allowance in this caſe to be accounted as part of the proceeds of the fares of the ſaid boat or veſſel, and to be ſo divided among the perſons intereſted: one dollar and eighty cents for every ton of the admeaſurement of ſuch veſſels as are between twenty and thirty tons burthen: and three dollars for every ton of ſuch veſſels as exceed thirty tons burthen; provided the allowance to any one veſſel do not, in a ſeaſon, exceed one hundred and ſeventy dollars. The allowances in the two caſes laſt mentioned are to be divided, three eighths to the owners of the veſſels, and five eighths to the fiſhermen employed therein the preceding ſeaſon, in ſuch proportion as the quantity of fiſh by them reſpectively taken ſhall bear to the whole quantity taken on board ſuch veſſels during the ſaid ſeaſon.—

Beſides the above ſpecified drawbacks and allowances, which entitle the exporter, &c. to the receipt of money, there are ſundry other allowances, which tend to diminiſh the duty to the importer, &c. Such are the allowances for leakage on liquors, and for draught and tare on articles of weight.

For leakage, on all liquors, upon which duties are payable by the gallon, including ſpirits diſtilled within the United ſtates, there is an allowance of two per cent, according to the guage of the caſks containing the ſame.

For Draught, on any quantity to the amount of an hundred weight, or an hundred and twelve pounds	lb. 1
On any quantity, from one to two hundred weight	2
From two to three hundred weight	3
From three to ten hundred	4
From ten to eighteen hundred	7
On any quantity above eighteen hundred	9
For tare, on every whole cheſt of bohea tea	70
On every half cheſt	36
On every quarter cheſt	20
On every cheſt of hyſon or other green tea of the weight of ſeventy pound or upwards, groſs	20
On every box of other tea, of not leſs than fifty pounds, nor more than ſeventy pounds, groſs	18
All other boxes of tea, according to their invoice.	pr. C.
On Coffee, in bags	2
In bales	3
In caſks	12
On pepper in bales	5
In caſks	12
On ſugar, other than loaf, in caſks	12
In boxes	15
On all other goods according to the invoice

It being lawful alſo in any caſe where the original invoice is produced, and the tare appears therein, the importer or conſignee concurring, to eſtimate the tare according to ſuch invoice.

The preceding are the principal caſes in which drawbacks and premiums are recognized by Congreſs: of the benefit of which no one can avail himſelf without a careful adherence to the rules and reſtrictions of the law. Which reſtrictions, being enacted for the prevention of fraud, are very particular and explicit; any material departure from which will not only deprive the party of the benefit of the premium or drawback; but expoſe him to forfeiture, and in ſome caſes both of goods and veſſel. We ſhall, in a conciſe view, collect and ſet forth the principal regulations on the ſubject, with the forfeitures annexed to the violation thereof, for the information of thoſe who may not have had opportunity or leiſure to attend minutely to the laws; referring ſuch as wiſh for more particular information to the ſeveral acts of Congreſs relative to imports.

In caſe of the exportation of goods, wares and merchandize, the exporter muſt, previous to lading them on board any veſſel for that purpoſe, give to the collector of the diſtrict, from which the exportation is intended to be made, twenty-four hours notice of ſuch his intention, ſpecifying therein the ſeveral articles intended to be exported, together with the caſks, caſes, cheſts, boxes and other packages containing the ſame, and their reſpective marks, numbers and contents. And if they be imported articles, notice muſt alſo be given of the ſhip or veſſel in which, the perſon for or by whom, and the place from which they were imported; accompanied with proof by oath of the perſons, including the exporter, through whoſe hands they have paſſed reſpecting their due importation, and the ſecurity of the duties thereupon. Proof muſt alſo be made in reſpect to pickled fiſh and ſalted proviſions, that the fiſh are of the fiſheries of the U. States, and that the proviſions were ſalted therein. The exporter muſt further make oath that the ſaid goods are, bona fide, intended to be exported; and enter into bond with ſufficient ſureties, in a ſum equal to the amount of the drawback, not to reland them within the limits of the United States, as ſettled by the late treaty of peace.

Theſe requiſitions being complied with on the part of the exporter, and the goods inſpected by the collector, and found to correſpond with the notice and proof reſpecting the ſame, a permit is granted for lading them.

But the drawback thereon is not payable till ſix months after their exportation, a written certificate from two reputable merchants at the foreign port or place where they ſhall have been landed, accompanied with the oath of the master and mate of the veſſel, certifying their delivery, being required previouſly to be produced to the collector with whom the outward entry was made: unleſs when the landing of the goods is prevented by ſome unavoidable accident, as ſhip-wreck; in which caſe a proteſt, in due form of law, made by the maſter and mate, or ſome of the ſeamen; or when no ſuch proteſt can be had, the oath of the exporter (unleſs there is good reaſon to ſuſpect the truth of the ſame) is permitted to be taken in lieu of ſuch other proof.

Theſe regulations being intended to prevent every kind of fraud, coluſion, or deception, it is enacted, ſect. 59 of the "act to provide more effectually for the collection of the duties impoſed by law on goods, wares and merchandize imported into the United States, and on the tonnage of ſhips and veſſels," That if any goods, &c. entered for exportation, with intent to draw back the duties, or to obtain any allowance given by law on the exportation thereof, ſhall be landed in any port or place within the limits of the United States as aforeſaid, all ſuch goods, &c. ſhall be ſubject to ſeizure and forfeiture, together with the ſhip or veſſel from which ſuch goods ſhall be landed, and the veſſel or boats uſed in landing the ſame; and all perſons concerned therein, ſhall, on indictment and conviction thereof, ſuffer imprisonment for a term not exceeding ſix months.

In caſe alſo of the exportation of ſpirits, whether of foreign or domeſtic diſtillation, notice as aforeſaid muſt be given to the proper officer of inſpection, ſix hours previous to putting them on board any veſſel for that purpoſe, of the exporter's intention to export them, of the number of caſks, veſſels, and caſes containing them, and the reſpective marks thereof, the place where they are then depoſited, the ſhip or veſſel in which, and the place to which they are intended to be exported. He muſt alſo produce to the ſaid officer the certificates, which by law ought to accompany them, and make oath as aforeſaid of his true intention to export the ſame, and proof of the duties being paid or ſecured, and enter into bond with two ſufficient ſureties, (the maſter of the veſſel being one) in a ſum equal to the value of the ſpirits, not to re-land them. After which, being duly inſpected and branded, they muſt be laden on board the veſſel in preſence of the officer who inſpected them: And if afterward unſhipped or re-landed within the limits of the United States, or within four leagues of the coaſt thereof, unleſs the voyage ſhall not have been purſued, or ſhall have been altered, or in diſtreſs of weather, (which diſtreſs muſt be immediately notified to the principal officer of the cuſtoms, reſiding at the neareſt port thereto) both the said spirits, and the ship with her tackle, apparel and furniture, and all boats or vessels employed in unshipping or landing the same, and their tackle and furniture, are forfeited, and are liable to seizure by any officer of the customs or of inspection. The payment of the drawback is also in this case deferred till six months after exportation.

And in case of allowances on fishing vessels, where the boats or vessels are under twenty tons, an account of the weight of fish caught, the original adjustment and settlement of the fare or fares among the owners and fishermen, together with a written account of the length, breadth, and depth of the boat or vessel, and the time she has been actually employed in the fishery during the preceding season, must be produced to the collector of the district authorised to pay the said allowance, and sworn or affirmed to before him, in order to entitle the owner, his agent or lawful representative, to receive the same. And if any fraud or deceit in obtaining such allowance shall, at any time within a year after paying it, appear to have been practised, the boat or vessel, upon which the allowance shall have been paid, is by law forfeited, if found within the district; otherwise the owner having practised such fraud or deceit, forfeits and is liable to pay one hundred dollars.

Where the vessels are of twenty tons or upwards, an agreement in writing or print must, previous to any voyage, be made between the skipper or master and every fisherman, expressing the terms of shipment; whether the same are to continue for the voyage only, or for the season; and that the fish or proceeds of such voyage or voyages, which may appertain to the fishermen, shall be divided among them in proportion to the quantity of fish by them respectively caught; to be also indorsed or countersigned by the owner or his agent. Which agreement, together with a certificate, subscribed by the owner, his agent or lawful representative, and certifying on his or their oath, the particular day on which any vessel sailed on, or returned from the several voyages, which she may have made the preceding season, must, in like manner, be produced to the collector, before the said owner, &c. can be entitled to receive any allowance.

A GENERAL ABSTRACT from the REVENUE LAWS; wherein the several Parts of the ACTS are digested, and transposed under distinct Heads, agreeably to the Subjects with which they have relation.

Of the Duty of Masters of Vessels.

EVERY master of a vessel, bound to the district of Nottingham, must, on penalty of five hundred dollars, deposit with the surveyor of the port of Town Creek, a manifest of the cargo, unless he shall have previously delivered one to some officer of the customs coming on board; bound to the district of Tappahannock, with the surveyor of the port of Urbanna; to the district of Bermuda Hundred, or City Point, with the collector of Norfolk and Portsmouth, or of Hampton; to the district of South-Quay, with the collector of Edenton. Which manifests, the respective collectors and surveyors must, after registry transmit, duly certified, to the officer with whom entry is to be made.

Also, every master of a vessel, belonging wholly, or in part, to citizens of the United States, must, on arrival from any foreign country have an accurate and true manifest of the cargo on board; and in default thereof, he forfeits the value of all goods not included in such manifest, unless due proof be made, that no part of the cargo, has been unshipped since taken on board, and that such manifest has been lost, or mislaid, or defaced by accident, or was incorrect by mistake.

Which manifest, every master of a vessel, as aforesaid, must, on penalty of a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, produce to the first officer of the customs, who shall appear on board, after his arrival within four leagues of the coasts of the United States; and also to the first such officer, who shall appear on board after his arrival in a district in which any part of his cargo is to be discharged; delivering in either case, a copy thereof, by himself subscribed. The production of the manifest and receipt of the copy, such officer must certify respectively, on penalty of five hundred dollars; certifying on the original, the day and year when produced, and the delivery of a copy; and on the copy, the day and year it was delivered. He must also transmit said copy to the collector of the district to which such vessel is bound.

If any part of the cargoes of such vessels, as laden with goods, and bound to the United States, have arrived within four leagues of the coast, be unladen previous to their coming into port and being legally authorized to unlade, all the goods so unladen, and any vessel or boat into which they may be put, are forfeited; and the master and mate of the vessel so unladen, forfeit, each, one thousand dollars; and every other person aiding and assisting, reble the value of the goods unladen.—Theſe forfeitures, are not however, incurred in caſe of unavoidable accidents, neceſſity or diſtreſs of weather, if duly notified and ſtrictly proved.

Alſo, if any ſhip or veſſel has arrived within the limits of a diſtrict of the United States, from a foreign country, ſhe leaves or attempts to leave it, (unleſs to proceed to a more interior diſtrict,) previous to report and entry made, the maſter forfeits four hundred dollars. And the collector, naval officer, ſurveyor, or any revenue cutters may arreſt and bring her back; unleſs the departure was occaſioned by diſtreſs of weather, dureſs of enemies or other neceſſity, which in either caſe muſt be ſtrictly proved.

Further, every maſter of a veſſel (ſhips of war and public packets excepted) muſt within twenty-four hours after his arrival in any port of the United States (if the uſual hours of buſineſs will permit) make report thereof to the chief officer of the cuſtoms at the port, and within forty-eight hours, a further report of the cargo, and deliver a manifeſt to the collector. In default of which, he forfeits one thouſand dollars.

But maſters of veſſels, whereof only part of the cargoes is deſtined to any particular port of the United States, may, after paying or ſecuring the duties of ſuch part, and giving bond equal to the amount of duties on the remainder, that no part thereof ſhall be landed in the United States without due entry, proceed to the port or place of their deſtination.

And when the cargoes of any veſſels are deſtined to ports in different diſtricts, the maſters thereof may proceed from diſtrict to diſtrict, paying in each diſtrict, the duties on ſuch goods as may be delivered therein, and giving bond to the collector of the diſtrict where they firſt arrived, for their due entry in every other diſtrict, and alſo obtaining from the reſpective collectors, to whom any part of their cargoes may be reported, copies of ſuch reports, and certificates of the quantity and particulars of the goods delivered.—Any maſter, in default of obtaining ſuch copy and certificate, or neglecting to produce them to any ſubſequent collector forfeits five hundred dollars.—But in caſe of ſpirits, ſuch certificates muſt be had from, and produced to the officers of inſpection.

Sea-ſtores, being exempt from duty, muſt be deſignated as ſuch in the maſters report; and if exceſſive, the duty may be eſtimated, on the exceſs, the value whereof is forfeited unleſs ſuch duty be paid; as alſo treble the value of any articles thereof, if landed for ſale.—Veſſels not bound to the United States, but putting in, in diſtreſs, the maſter and mate muſt, within twenty-four hours, make proteſt, ſetting forth the circumſtances of the diſtreſs, before a notary public, or other perſon duly authorized; and, within forty-eight hours, report of the cargo as in other caſes: and the diſtreſs being duly certified by the wardens of the port, permits, may if neceſſary, be granted for unlading; the collectors cauſing the goods unladen to be ſtored, and, if damaged, or if neceſſary in repairing the ſhip, allowing them, the duties thereon being firſt paid, to be ſold.

Maſters of veſſels bound to foreign ports, previous to obtaining a clearance, muſt deliver to the collector of the diſtrict from which they are about to ſail, manifeſts of their cargoes, and any maſter departing without a clearance, forfeits two hundred dollars.

The penalty of falſe ſwearing, as well of maſters of veſſels, as of the owners or conſignees of goods, or their factors or agents, is fine or impriſonment, or both; not exceeding in caſe of the former, one thouſand dollars; of the latter, one year.

No maſter of a veſſel arriving at any port, where there is a poſt office, may report or make entry, till he has delivered to the poſtmaſter all letters in his poſſeſſion, directed to any perſon within the United States.

2d. Of the duty of the Owners or Conſignees of Goods.

Within fifteen days after the maſter of any veſſel ſhall have made report to the collector, the owners or conſigners, or their factors or agents muſt, on oath or affirmation, make entry with the ſaid collector, of the goods conſigned to them, particularizing the marks, numbers and contents of each package: or if in bulk, the quantity and quality; producing the original invoices, documents, and bills of lading, and declaring, that ſhould any other goods afterwards appear to be conſigned to them, they will make it known in order to a due entry thereof.

Articles exempt from duty, as clothes, books, houſehold furniture, &c. muſt be ſeparately and diſtinctly entered by the owner or his agent; who, according to the beſt of his knowledge, muſt make oath reſpecting ſuch owner, his occupation, arrival or expected arrival; and that the ſaid articles are really intended for his, or his family's uſe, and not for ſale; which oath being endorſed on the entry, muſt be ſubſcribed by the perſon making it. And in caſe ſuch perſon be not the real owner of the goods, he muſt give bond, that a like oath, ſhall, within a year be had of the real owner, either taken before the collector with whom the entry is made, or produced to him duly executed. A copy of which oath and entry muſt be tranſmitted to the ſecretary of the treaſury.

Report and entry must also be made on the re-importation of articles of the growth or manufactures of the United States.—Such articles being duty-free, their identity must be carefully proved. For which purpose the oaths of such persons as have knowledge of the facts are required, relative to the time of their exportation, the ship in which, and the person by whom exported; and if imported into any other district than that from which they were exported, a certificate from the collector of the district, certifying their exportation: such certificate, however, being dispensed with, where it cannot be immediately produced, on giving bond for its production within four months.

No goods imported from a foreign country may be unladen till the duties, agreeably to an estimate made by the collector and naval officer (where there is one at the port) are paid or secured; and a permit signed by the said collector, and countersigned by the said naval officer (where there is one at the port) granted; nor in any case, except by special licence, unless between sun rise and sun set. Goods unladen in violation of these restrictions (as also the vessel and her tackle, where the value of the goods amount to four hundred dollars) are forfeited; and every person concerned therein incurs a penalty of four hundred dollars, of being advertised in the public papers, and incapacity of holding office for seven years. Also goods requiring to be weighed or gauged, may not, on penalty of forfeiture, be removed from the wharf where first landed, without the presence of a proper officer, till it be done.

Goods whereof the entry does not specify the particulars, are required to be stored till the particulars are ascertained, and the duties adjusted. And in all cases, where the final adjustments of the duties exceed the estimate thereof before taken, the difference is to be paid to the collector; and where it is less than such estimate, the party having paid or secured them agreeably thereto, to be refunded or credited, as the case may be.

3d. Of the duty of the Officers of the Customs.

The officers of the customs are required to take oath and give bond for the faithful discharge of the duties of their respective offices; and for default of the former, they incur a penalty of two hundred dollars.

The collectors are empowered, in presence of the naval officer, where there is one, to administer the necessary oaths to masters of vessels, the owners of goods, &c. And collectors, naval officers, and surveyors of ports, may, in case of absence or sickness, act by deputy.

To superintend the delivery of goods, inspectors may be put and kept on board of vessels, while lying in port, or while going from district to district, may prohibit any goods from being unladen without a permit. and after sun set, secure the hatches, which may not be opened, except in their presence, on penalty of two hundred dollars.—In like manner the officers of the customs, including those of the revenue cutters, may as well without as within their respective districts, go on board all such vessels as, bound to the United States, have arrived within four leagues of the coast, may demand manifests, examine the cargoes, and designate any trunk or package, being separate from the rest of the cargo, sealing the same if thought proper. and transmitting to the collectors of the districts to which such vessels are bound, a particular account thereof; and any such trunk or package. on arrival, not appearing, or the seal being broken, subjects the master to a penalty of two hundred dollars. Such officers may in like circumstances, make seizures, where goods are legally forfeited; and if, in any case, impeded or resisted in the execution of their duty, the person offending forfeits a sum not exceeding four hundred dollars.

Entries on the delivery of the cargoes of vessels, must, when such delivery is completed, be compared with the entries of the owners, or consignees, and the result endorsed on the respective entries, and subscribed by the officers making the comparison.—And in case any package which shall have been reported, be missing, the master forfeits five hundred dollars; but may save the penalty by making due proof before proper authority, that no part of his cargo since taken on board, had been unshipped, except, as contained in his report, or that such disagreement was by accident or mistake.

In case any goods, other than salt and coal, remain on board any vessel, fifteen days after the master's report is required to be made, the same must, by the inspectors, be delivered into the custody of the collector; who keeping them at the risk of the owner, may at the expiration of nine months, if claim be not previously made, cause them to be appraised by two reputable merchants (to ascertain the duties thereon) and sold at public auction, retaining the duties, and paying the overplus, if any, for the use of the owner, into the treasury of the United States.—And when goods are damaged, or not accompanied with the original invoice, the duties may be ascertained by appraisement of two merchants, the collector choosing one, and the owner the other: or goods not accompanied with invoices, may at the option and risk of the owner, be kept by the collector till the invoice be obtained. But goods entered and not invoiced are forfeited; and any collector ſuſpecting invoices to be not according to the true value of the goods, may cauſe an appraiſement thereof to be made, as in caſe of damaged goods.

On ſuſpicion of fraud, packages, whereof entry has been made, may, in the preſence of two or more reputable merchants, be opened and examined; and in caſe of diſagreement, unleſs it be proved to have been by accident or miſtake, ſuch articles as diſagree with their reſpective entries, are ſubject to forfeiture. Goods concealed with intention to defraud the revenue, are alſo if found, ſubject to forfeiture. And any perſon purchaſing goods liable to ſeizure, knowing them to be ſuch, forfeits double their value.

Officers of the cuſtoms, demanding or receiving other than legal fees, incur a penalty of two hundred dollars; and accepting a bribe or reward, for conniving at a falſe entry of veſſels or goods, a penalty of, not leſs than two hundred, nor greater than two thouſand dollars. And perſons giving or offering ſuch bribe or reward, incur a like penalty.

4th. Of the Payment of Duties, &c.

In all caſes where the duties do not exceed fifty dollars, they muſt be paid immediately; but where they exceed that ſum, they may be either paid immediately, or ſecured by bond, for their payment, if accruing on Weſt India goods other than ſalt in four months; on ſalt in nine months; on wines in twelve months; and on all other articles, teas excepted, one half in ſix, one quarter in nine, and the remainder in twelve months: which bond may, at the option of the obligor, either include one or more ſureties, or, without ſureties, be accompanied with a depoſit of part of the goods. And the duties on teas may be ſecured, by a bond with ſureties, payable in one year; or by bond, without ſureties, in double their amount, payable in two years; the teas being depoſited at the riſk and expence of the importers, in ware-houſes agreed on between them and an inſpector. And in caſe of depoſit, any part of teas may be delivered to the owners on paying, or further ſecuring the payment of the duties, by bond, with ſureties to be paid, where the duties do not exceed one hundred dollars, in four months; where they exceed one hundred and do not exceed five hundred dollars, in eight months; or where they exceed five hundred dollars, in twelve months.—But the credit by the laſt mentioned bond muſt not exceed two years from the depoſit of the teas; the collector then having power to cauſe ſo much thereof, to be ſold at public auction as will diſcharge the arrears of duties ſtill due, with coſt of ſale.

Bonds for duties not being paid at the time they become due, the collectors are required to inſtitute ſuits for their recovery; and in caſe of inſolvency, the debts due to the United States have priority.

5th. Of the Manner in which Goods muſt be imported.

Spirits, wines and teas, muſt on pain of forfeiture, at leaſt of the two former, be landed under the ſuperintendence of ſome officer of inſpection, to whom all permits from collectors for their landing muſt be previouſly produced.

diſtilled ſpirits may not be imported in any caſk which ſhall have been marked purſuant to any law reſpecting ſuch ſpirits, on pain of forfeiture of the ſpirits and the ſhip or veſſel importing them. Nor may any diſtilled ſpirits, except arrack, and ſweet cordials, be imported in caſks of leſs capacity than ninety gallons, on pain of forfeiture.—Ale, beer, or porter may not be imported in leſs caſks than of the capacity of forty gallons, or in leſs packages than ſix dozen bottles, on pain of forfeiture thereof, and of the ſhip or veſſel importing them.——

No goods other than houſehold furniture, and clothes of perſons coming into the United States, for the purpoſe of becoming inhabitants, may be brought from a foreign country, into any diſtrict thereof, Louiſville, Champlain, and South Hero excepted, in any other manner than by ſea, nor by ſea in veſſels leſs than thirty tons burthen, on pain of forfeiture of all ſuch goods, and the carriages, teams or veſſels by which conveyed.

COPPER COINS.

Cents, value, each 1-100 doll.	containing	208	grs. of copper.
Half Cent, 1-200		104

The following devices are to be engraven on the reſpective coins, viz. on one ſide of them an impreſſion emblematic of liberty, with an inſcription of the word. LIBERTY, and the year of the coinage; and on the reverſe of each of the gold and ſilver coins, the figure of an eagle, with the inſcription, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA: of the copper, an inſcription expreſſing its denomination and value.

The denominations of money of account, as they are by law required to be uſed in the public offices, and in all judicial proceedings of the United States, are dollars, (the dollar being the unit) diſmes or tenths, cents or hundredths, and mills or thouſandths of a dollar.

The ſtandard of the Gold coins is eſtabliſhed to be eleven parts fine to one part alloy; and that of the ſilver coins, one thouſand four hundred and eighty five parts fine to one hundred and ſeventy nine parts alloy; and the proportional value of gold to that of ſilver, coined agreeably to theſe ſtandards, as fifteen to one.

For the time being, the gold and ſilver coins of Great Britain, France, Spain, and Portugal are allowed to be legal tender in the payment of all debts and demands within the United States at the ſeveral rates following, to wit, the gold coins of Great Britain, and Portugal, of their preſent ſtandard, at the rate of one hundred cents for every twenty ſeven grains of actual weight thereof; and thoſe of France, and Spain, of their preſent ſtandard at the rate of one hundred cents for every twenty ſeven grains and two fifths of a grain; the Spaniſh milled dollar, containing not leſs than ſeventeen penny weights and ſeven grains, at one hundred cents, and in proportion for the parts thereof; and the crown of France, containing not leſs than eighteen penny-weights and ſeventeen grains, at one hundred and ten cents. Provided that no foreign coin, iſſued ſubſequent to the firſt day of January one thouſand ſeven hundred and ninety-two, ſhall be tender, till ſamples thereof ſhall have been aſſayed at the mint and found to be reſpectively agreeable to the ſeveral ſtandards eſtabliſhed by law.

But at the expiration of three years from the time, when the coining of gold and ſilver ſhall commence at the mint, all foreign coins, excepting the Spaniſh milled dollar and the parts of the ſame, are to ceaſe from being tender as aforeſaid, till coined anew.

And from the completion of ſix calendar months, after cents and half cents to the amount of fifty thouſand dollars ſhall have been coined and paid into the treaſury, no copper coin, other than the aboveſaid will be permitted to be offered in payments of any kind, on penalty of a fine of ten dollars, and forfeiture of the pieces ſo offered.

Four different currencies, or rates, at which any one ſpecies of coin of the ſame value is reckoned in the denominations of account, have, perhaps from the firſt ſettlement of America, been, and ſtill continue to be uſed in different parts of the union. In the New England States, viz. New Hampſhire, Maſſachuſetts including the diſtrict of Maine, Rhode-Iſland and Connecticut; in Vermont, Virginia, and Kentucky, the dollar is reckoned at ſix ſhillings; in New York, and North Carolina, at eight ſhillings. in New Jerſey, Pennſylvania, Delaware, and Maryland, at ſeven ſhillings and ſix pence; and in South Carolina, and Georgia, at four ſhillings and eight pence.

Conceiving, that in an extenſive and commercial nation, the trade and intercourſe of one extremity with another, will frequently render it neceſſary to reduce the currency of the one to that of the other, we have framed the following RULES for reducing the Currencies of the different States to a par with each other; as alſo, for reducing the Money of account of the United States to thoſe Currencies, and vice verſa, by Decimals.

1. To reduce New England, &c. to New-York and North-Carolina currency, to any given ſum, add its third part; and vice verſa, ſubtract a fourth part.

2. To reduce New-England, &c. to New-Jerſey &c. curreney, add to any given ſum its fourth part; and vice verſa, ſubtract a fifth part.

3. To reduce New-England, &c. to South Carolina and Georgia currency, as 9 to 7; and vice verſa, as 7 to 9, ſo is the one currency to the other.

4. To reduce New-York and North-Carolina, to New-Jerſey, &c. currency, as 16 to 15; and vice verſa, as 15 to 16, ſo is the one to the other.

5. To reduce New York and North-Carolina, to South-Carolina and Georgia currency, as 12 to 7; and vice verſa, as 7 to 12, ſo is the one to the other.

6. To reduce New-Jerſey, &c. to South-Carolina and Georgia currency, as 45 to 28, and vice verſa, as 28 to 45, ſo is the one to the other.

7. To reduce either of the above currencies to the money of account of the United States, let the inferior denominations, if any, in the given ſum be annexed to the pounds in decimals, and divide, if the rate of the dollar be ſix ſhillings, by ,3; if eight ſhillings, by ,4; if ſeven ſhillings and ſix-pence, by ,375; if four ſhillings and eight-pence, by ,23; and pointing off the decimals according to rule, the figures to the left will be dollars thoſe to the right, decimals of a dollar, or diſmes, cents, and mills, And to reduce the money of account of the United States to either of the aforeſaid currencies, multiply reſpectively by the decimals, by which, in the former caſe, it was directed to divide, and the product will be pounds, and decimals of a pound.

BANKS.

BANK OF THE UNITED STATES

Was incorporated by act of Congress on the 25th of Feb. 1791; and the subscribers are to continue a corporation till the 4th of March 1811. It is under the management of a president and twenty-four directors.—The directors are elected on the 1st Monday in January annually; and at their first meeting thereafter they elect, from their own number, one to preside. Only three fourths of the existing members, exclusive of the president, may, at any election, be re-chosen.

The amount of capital is 10,000,000 dollars; the number of shares, 25,000; and the amount of property, which the corporation may, at any time, possess, 15,000,000 dollars, including the capital.

Besides the principal bank, at Philadelphia, there are four branches, established for the purposes of discount and deposit. These are at Boston, New-York, Charleston (S C.) and Baltimore.

The bank is open for business every day in the year, except Sundays, the fourth of July and Christmas. Bills and notes for discount must be presented on Mondays and Thursdays: On Tuesdays and Fridays they are laid before the directors; and on Wednesdays and Saturdays the discount is settled and made known.

Discounts are made for a term not exceeding sixty days with the allowance of three days of grace; and on personal security only—Payment must be examined at the bank, and no suggestion of errors will be afterwards attended to.

Directors, elected Jan. 1794.

Bank of North America.

The Bank of North America is under the management of a president and eleven directors, who are elected on the second Monday in January annually. Present capital, 750,000; which may be increased to 10,000,000 dollars.—

The bank is open on the same days as the bank of the United States, except the first of January and Good Friday. Discount days are Mondays and Thursdays. Bills and notes, which become due on days when the bank is shut, are paid on the preceding days. And those, which are not paid on the day when they become due, are protested on the evening of the same day. Errors are not corrected unless suggested, at the bank, at the time of their being committed.

John Nixon, president; Richard Wells, cashier.

Besides the preceding, there are several banks established in different states: These will be more particularly mentioned under the respective states to which they belong; being only named here, in order to exhibit as far as possible, the amount of bank property in the United States.

The above has been carefully collated and compared with the ſeveral acts of Congreſs, eſtabliſhing the times and places of holding the reſpective courts; and the public may be aſſured of its accuracy.

WESTERN TERRITORY.

THE Weſtern Territory, as already hinted, conſiſts of two parts, viz. the Territory North-weſt, and the Territory South of the river Ohio. Over each of which, as being compriſed within the limits of the United States, Congreſs exerciſes juriſdiction. And though neither, being organized with the full powers and authorities of independent ſtates, is entitled to a complete repreſentation in the national legiſlature, ſtill the laws of the Union are of force as they reſpect them.

By an ordinance* of Congreſs, of the 13th of July, 1787, and by ſeveral ſtatutes ſince the eſtabliſhment of the preſent federal conſtitution, each territory, for the purpoſes of temporary government, forms a diſtrict, and has a governor, ſecretary, and three judges. The governor holds his office, ſubject to removal, three years;—the ſecretary, four;—the judges during good behaviour. They are appointed by the preſident of the United States, with the advice and conſent of the ſenate, and are required, as alſo the members of the legiſlative council; when there ſhall be a legiſlature, to take an oath or affirmation of fidelity and of office. The governor of either diſtrict muſt have a freehold in a thouſand acres of land, and reſide therein. He is, ex officio, ſuperintendant of Indian affairs, and commander in chief of the militia within his diſtrict; may appoint all military, except general officers; and, for the time being, all ſubordinate magiſtrates and civil officers neceſſary for the preſervation of peace and good order. And when there ſhall be formed a general aſſembly, he is to compoſe a branch of the legiſlature, to have a negative on the laws, and a power of convening and adjourning the other branches. In caſe of vacancy, by death, removal, reſignation, or neceſſary abſence in the office of governor, the ſecretary ſupplies his place during the vacancy.—He alſo muſt reſide in the diſtrict for which he is appointed, and be ſeized of a freehold therein of five hundred acres of land. He muſt preſerve the laws and acts of the legiſlature, public records, and the official proceedings of the governor; and tranſmit ſuch acts and proceedings once in ſix months to the preſident of the United States. The judges in like manner muſt reſide in their reſpective diſtricts, and have ſeverally freeholds in five hundred acres of land therein:

* This ordinance was entered into for the government of the territory north-weſt of the Ohio; but, by an act of Congreſs, of the 26th of May, 1790, it is declared, that the territory ſouth of the Ohio, ſhall alſo be a diſtrict, and enjoy all the privileges and advantages of the ordinance.

but a majority of them is not requiſite to form a bench, any one having power, in the abſence of his aſſociates to hold a court.—The governors and judges are required to adopt ſuch laws, criminal and civil, of the original ſtates, as are moſt appoſite to their reſpective diſtricts; which laws, when ſo adopted, muſt be reported to congreſs, and if not diſapproved by them, they have a binding efficacy in all parts of the ſaid diſtricts; ſubject, however, to be repealed by the governor and judges, if found to be inconvenient, or to be altered by a future legiſlature.

Whenever it ſhall happen that there are in either territory five thouſand free male inhabitants of full age, a legiſlature is to be formed, conſiſting of the governor, a houſe of repreſentatives, and a legiſlative council. The repreſentatives are to be choſen by the people, and appointed in ſuch manner, that there may be one to every five hundred free males, till they amount to twenty-five; after which their number and proportion to be regulated by the legiſlature. They are to be choſen for two years, and vacancies to be ſupplied by new elections.

The legiſlative council is to conſiſt of five members, to be nominated by the houſe of repreſentatives of the diſtrict, and appointed by the preſident and ſenate of the United States; double the number to be appointed being returned to the preſident in ſuch nomination. They are to continue in office five years unleſs ſooner removed. Three to form a quorum. The qualifications of a repreſentative are, having been three years a citizen of one of the United States, or having reſided three years in the diſtrict for which he is choſen, being ſeized in fee ſimple of two hundred acres of land, and being reſident in ſuch diſtrict: of a member of the legiſlative council, a freehold of five hundred acres of land and reſidence in the diſtrict; and of electors of repreſentatives, a freehold in fifty acres of land and two years reſidence in the diſtrict, or a like freehold and having been a citizen of one of the ſtates.

The legiſlatures thus organized, are to be veſted with the ordinary powers of legiſlation; but no bill may be paſſed repugnant to the principles and articles of the aforeſaid ordinance, nor without the concurrence of the three branches. They may by joint ballot, appoint delegates to congreſs, who are to have a ſeat with a right of debating, but not of voting.

It is alſo declared in the ſaid ordinance, that the eſtates both of reſident & non-reſident proprietors, dying inteſtate ſhall deſcend in equal portions to their children, and the deſcendants of deceaſed children; ſuch deſcendants taking, in equal parts, the ſhare of their deceaſed anceſtor; that where there are no lineal heirs, the next of kin in equal degree, shall inherit equally; that, among collaterals, the children of a deceased brother or sister of the intestate shall have equal parts among them of their parents share; that there be no distinction between kindred of the whole and half blood; and that the right of dower, be, in all cases, saved to the widow of the intestate. That the above law, relative to descents, shall be in force till altered by the legislatures of of the districts; and that, till laws be adopted by the governors and judges, estates may be devised and bequeathed by wills in writing; and real estates conveyed by lease and release, or bargain and sale.—Then follows a general recognition of rights similar to what is recognised in the Constitution of the United States. Wherein are reserved to the people the privileges of being free from molestation on account of religion; of the writ of habeas corpus, and trial by jury; of bail, except in capital cases; and of being secure in their liberties and property: and wherein are prohibited, immoderate fines and cruel punishments; the application of private property or service to public use without just compensation, laws invalidating private contracts, and slavery except in the punishment of crimes.

It is also further declared that the means of education shall be encouraged.—That the utmost good faith shall be observed towards the Indians; that their lands and property shall not be taken from them without their consent, or invaded, unless by just wars, authorised by congress: but that laws shall be made to prevent wrongs from being done them, and to preserve peace and friendship with them.—That the said territory shall for ever remain a part the United States, subject to the laws and government of the same, and chargeable with a due proportion of the national debts and expenditures, levied by the respective legislatures thereof. That those legislatures shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil by congress, or any regulation by them made for securing the titles of bona fide purchasers.—That no tax shall be imposed on lands the property of the United States, nor shall non resident proprietors be taxed higher than resident. That the navigable waters leading into the Mississippi and St. Lawrence, and the carrying places between the same shall be common highways for ever, free both to the inhabitants of the territory, and to the citizens of the United States, without tax, impost or duty. And finally, that there shall be formed in said territory a number of states, which at a future period, when the population shall be sufficiently increased, are to establish for themselves permanent constitutions and states governments of republican forms, and to be admitted into the union on an equal footing with the original ſtates.

It is underſtood, that the governor in the Southern Territory has iſſued his proclamation for forming a legiſlature, agreeably to the preceding ordinance.

Length, 168 miles; breadth, 60; counties, 5; townſhips, 191, and 23 locations; inhabitants, 141,885.

Brief Abſtract from the Conſtitution.

THE ſupreme executive authority is veſted in a governor and council of five members: The legiſlative power in a ſenate and houſe of repreſentatives, who conſtitute what is called, in the language of the conſtitution of this ſtate, the "General Court." The judiciary is compoſed of two courts; the ſuperior and Common pleas. The ſuperior court conſiſts of a chief juſtice and three aſſociate juſtices; and the common pleas, of four juſtices—all of whom receive their appointments from the governor and council, and retain them dum bene ſe gerentibus. Juſtices of the peace derive their authority from the ſame ſource, and hold their commiſſion for the term of ſeven years.

The judiciary officers alone excepted, the election of all is annual, by the freemen aſſembled in their reſpective town meetings. The general election is on the firſt Wedneſday in June; but held at no ſtated place.

The general tenor of the conſtitution of this ſtate is not materially variant from that of the conſtitution of Maſſachuſetts, which will hereafter meet a more particular diſcuſſion.

Brief abſtract from the Conſtitution.

Legiſlation is performed by an aſſembly, or houſe of repreſentatives, and a council, conſiſting of twelve members beſides the governor, who is preſident, and the lieutenant governor, who is a member thereof, ex officio. The council may originate bills, other than money bills, and ſuſpend, till the next ſeſſion, ſuch bills as they may diſapprove; but have not a final negative.

The governor, lieutenant governor, members of the council, houſe of repreſentatives, and treaſurer of the ſtate are elected annually by the freemen; to the privileges of whom, every male, of twenty one years of age, who is of a peaceable diſpoſition, and will take the oath of fidelity to the ſtate, is entitled. The judges of the ſupreme and county courts, and courts of probate, ſheriffs and juſtices of the peace are appointed annually by joint ballot of the council and houſe. Major and brigadier genera's are alſo appointed by the council and houſe; but not annually: and the ſecretary of ſtate, the ſpeaker and clerk of aſſembly, annually, by the houſe only. Field officers of the militia, captains and ſubalterns are appointed as in Maſſachuſetts.

Members of the council, and judges of the ſupreme court are, ex officiis, juſtices of the peace through the ſtate, and the judges of the county courts, in their reſpective counties.

The freemen meet in their ſeveral towns, to chooſe their repreſentatives and give their votes for governor, &c. on the firſt Tueſday in September annually; and the general aſſembly, on the ſecond Thurſday in October following. They meet alternately at Rutland and Windſor. The ſeſſion in October 1793, was at Windſor.

UNIVERSITY.

An act was passed on the 2d of November 1791, by the legislature, for founding a University at Burlington, on lake Champlain. Large subscriptions and donations of land and other property have been proposed by individuals, (in aid of legislative measures) for the purposes of erecting convenient buildings and establishing a fund.

We learn that measures are taking to carry the act into complete effect; and, from the salubrity of the climate, and the local situation of the place, we anticipate the idea of its soon becoming an institution of importance. The management of it is entrusted to thirteen

COMPARATIVE VIEW of the INCREASE of PROPERTY in the STATE.

The amount of taxable property (exclusive of unimproved land) agreeably to the grand list taken in the several years following, will exhibit a comparative view of the increasing wealth and importance of the State.

1782	£. 151,891
1786	201,007
1791	323,680
1792	354,330

According to the foregoing amount of grand lists (which were taken on the following valuation, to wit. horses at £4 per head; oxen, at £3; cows at £2; young horses and young cattle, at, from 15s. to £2; and improved land at 10s. per acre; being on an average somewhat less than half the real value of property) the wealth of the state has annually increased, for six years past, more than £25,000; or 85,000 dollars.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Maſſachuſetts (proper,) length 125 miles; breadth 50: ſquare miles, 62[illegible]0; counties, 12; towns 265, inhabitants, 378,7[illegible]7.

Maine, length, 170 miles; breadth, 125; ſquare miles 21,750; counties, 5; inhabitants, 96 540.

Brief abſtract from the Conſtitution.

The legiſlature conſiſts of a ſenate and houſe of repreſentatives, which (together with the governor. and lieutenant governor) are elected annually by the people; the ſenators, on the firſt Monday in April, and the repreſentatives in May, at leaſt ten days previous to the laſt Wedneſday in the month; that being the day of the legiſlature's meeting, and of the general election. The votes for governor, and lieutenant governor, are taken on the ſaid firſt Monday in April. To be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant governor, the candidate muſt have reſided in the ſtate ſeven years, and during that time, been ſeized, in his own right, of a freehold, of the value of £. 1000, and profeſs the chriſtian religion: to that of ſenator, he muſt have reſided in the ſtate five years, be, at his election, an inhabitant of the diſtrict for which he is to be elected, and ſeized of a freehold eſtate to the value of £. 300, or poſſeſſed of perſonal, to the value of £. 600: to that of repreſentative, he muſt have reſided one year in the town which he is choſen to repreſent, and been ſeized therein of freehold eſtate to the value of £ 100, or poſſeſſed of perſonal to the value of £. 200. Electors muſt be twenty one years of age, have freeholds of the annual income of £. 3, or perſonal eſtate to the value of £. 60. Every corporate town containing 150 rateable polls, elects one repreſentative; containing 375, two; containing 600, three; and ſo on, electing one for every 225 rateable polls, as the towns increaſe.

From the perſons returned as Senators and Counſellors (being 40 in the whole) nine are annually, elected by joint ballot of both houſes, to conſtitute a council, for adviſing the governor in the execution of his office. He is, ex officio, preſident, and the lieutenant governor, a member of the council.

All judicial officers, the attorney and ſolicitor general, ſheriffs, coroners, and regiſters of probate, are nominated, and with the advice and conſent of the council, appointed by the governor; the ſecretary, treaſurer and receiver-general, the commiſſary-general and notaries public, are elected annually by joint ballot of both houſes; major-generals are alſo appointed by both houſes, but not annually; brigadiers, by the field officers of their brigades; field officers, by the captains and subalterns of their regiments; and the captains and subalterns, by the train bands and alarm lists of their companies respectively. The governor appoints the adjutant-general; major-generals, their aids; brigadiers, their brigade-majors; and the commanding officers of regiments, their adjutants and quarter-masters.

The judges (except justices of the peace, whose commissions expire once in seven years, but may be renewed) hold their offices during good behaviour; and judges of the supreme court, are, ex officiis, justices of the peace through the state.

The treasurer and receiver-general may not be elected more than five years successively.

WILLIAMS'-COLLEGE, at Williamstown.

Colonel Ephraim Williams, may in propriety, be said to be the founder of this institution; it being established in consequence of a con ſiderable donation bequeathed by him, for the purpoſe of ſupporting a free ſchool. The truſtees of the bequeſt improved upon the original deſign, and have finally obtained an act of incorporation for a colledge. This was paſſed on the 22d of June 1793: and, in honor of the benefactor, the college bears his name.

The academy at Newport is ſaid to be flouriſhing.

The principal ſocieties are, a Marine Society, inſtituted at Newport, in 1752, for the relief of diſtreſſed widows and orphans of the fraternity,—

And the Providence Society for promoting the abolition of ſlavery, for the relief of perſons unlawfully held in bondage, and for improving the condition of the African race. This was inſtituted in 1789, and incorporated the year following; and now conſiſts of more than 150 members.

CONNECTICUT.

Length, 82; breadth, 57; counties, 8; townships upwards of 100; inhabitants, 237,946.

Brief Abstract from the Constitution.

What was hinted in regard to organization, and appointment of the legislative and executive in the state of Rhode Island, is, substantially, applicable to this state.—One or two variations in point of name and number constitute the only difference. The officer there styled deputy, is here styled lieutenant-governor; and in place of her ten assistants, Connecticut has twelve.

The general election, which was there on the first Wednesday, is here on the second Thursday, in May: And the autumnal meeting of the legislature, on the second Thursday in October. The lower house consists of two deputies from each town, chosen as in Rhode Island, except that here a freeman must have freehold estate of the value of £ 2, or personal, of £ 40.

The judges of the superior court hold their offices during the pleasure of the general assembly; judges of the county courts, and justices are appointed annually. Sheriffs are appointed by the upper house, and continue in office during their pleasure.—General and field officers are appointed by the legislature; captains and subalterns by the companies.

The "CONNECTICUT MEDICAL SOCIETY" is an inſtitution of conſiderable note.

NEW-YORK.

Length, 350 miles; breadth, 300; counties, 20; inhabitants, 340,120.

Brief abſtract from the Conſtitution.

In the ſtate of New-York, the legiſlature conſiſts of a ſenate and an aſſembly or houſe of repreſentatives. The number of ſenators is equal to one third of the aſſembly, the whole number of which is at preſent 70, and may never exceed 300. They are elected for four years, and claſſed in ſuch a manner that the ſeats of a fourth part are vacated every year. They are alſo required to be freeholders, and to be choſen by perſons who are ſeized of freehold eſtates of the net value of £100. Members of the aſſembly are elected annually, in May. The qualifications, requiſite to vote for an aſſembly-man, are a maturity of age, an oath of allegiance to the ſtate, ſix months reſidence, a freehold eſtate during that time of the value of £20, or a rented tenement of the yearly value of £2, and having paid taxes: or being a freeman and uſually reſident in one of the cities of New-York, or Albany. The governor, chancellor and judges of the ſupreme court, are ex-officiis, a council for the reviſion of all bills about to be paſſed into laws. They may object to a bill, but have not a complete negative. For two thirds of both houſes adhering to any bill, it will finally paſs.

The governor, and lieutenant governor are elected once in three years by perſons qualified to vote for ſenators. They muſt be freeholders; and the lieutenant governor is ex-officio, preſident of the ſenate, has a caſting vote, and executes the functions of governor, in caſe of vacancy.

All officers, whoſe appointments are not ſpecially provided for in the conſtitution, are choſen by a council of appointment, named from the ſenate annually, by the aſſembly, one perſon being named from each great diſtrict and the ſame perſons being ineligible two years ſucceſſively. The governor is, ex officio, preſident thereof, and has a caſting vote.

Military officers hold their appointments during pleaſure; the chancellor, judges of the ſupreme, and firſt judges of the county courts, during good behaviour, or till 60 years of age; ſheriffs and coroners, one year, and are incapable of ſerving longer than four years ſucceſſively.

The treaſurer of the ſtate, county treaſurer, loan officers, and clerks of the ſupervifors are appointed by acts of the legiſlature the regiſter, and clerks in chancery, by the chancellor; clerks of the ſupreme and probate courts, by their reſpective judges; attornies, ſolicitors and counſellors at law, by the courts in which they plead; and town clerks, ſupervisors, aſſeſſors, conſtables and collectors, by the people.

LITERARY INSTITUTIONS.

Columbia college, at New York.

This seminary was first founded in 1754, and was, by the charter incorporating it, styled King's College. Since the revolution the name has been changed to that which it now bears. It is now under the superintendency of twenty-four trustees; who are, by act of the legislature passed in 1787, a body corporate. The college edifice is situated in an elevated and pleasant part of the city, rather remote from the hurry and bustle of business. It is now in a flourishing state; is well furnished with able professors, and a new and complete philosophical apparatus; and has usually about 100 resident students, exclusive of students in medicine; who amount to about 50. The governor is chancellor; the Rev John Rogers, D. D. vice-chancellor. And those concerned in the instruction:

W. Samuel Johnson, L. L. D. president, and professor of rhetoric and Belles-lettres
Rev. John D. Gross, D. D. professor of moral philosophy and geography
John Kemp, L. L. D. professor of mathematics, natural philosophy, and astronomy
Rev. Elijah D. Ratoone, professor of the Latin and Greek languages
Rev. John Christoff Kunzie, D. D. professor of oriental languages
Samuel Latham Mitchel, L. L. D. professor of natural history, chymistry and agriculture
M. Mercellin, professor of the French language
James Kent, professor of law.

Faculty of Medicine.

Samuel Bard, dean; Richard Bailey, professor of anatomy
Samuel Nicholl, professor of practice of physic
John R. B. Rogers, professor of midwifery

Samuel L. Mitchell, profeſſor of chymiſtry and botany
Wright Poſt, profeſſor of ſurgery
William P. Smith, profeſſor of materia medica
William Hammerſley, profeſſor of the inſtitutes of medicine
Commencement annually on the 1ſt Wedneſday in May.

There are ſaid to be eight or ten incorporated academies in the ſtate. One is at Flatbuſh, on Long-Iſland; it is called Eraſmus Hall, and is in a thriving ſituation. Another, called Clinton Academy, is at Eaſt Hampton, on the eaſt end of Long-Iſland; one is at Kingſton, and one at Schenectady. The names and ſite of the others could not at preſent be obtained.

HUMANE INSTITUTIONS.

New-York Hoſpital was chartered June 13th, 1771; and may hold eſtates to the amount of 50000l. ſterling.

The number of patients admitted into it, from the 1ſt of February, 1793, to the 1ſt of February, 1794, was 560, which, with 48 then remaining, amounted to 608. Of whom, 435 were cured; 26 relieved; 22 removed; 15 diſcharged diſorderly; 52 deceaſed, and 58 remained.

Preſent Officers:

Theophilus Bache, preſident, John Murray, treaſurer,
Gerard Walton, vice preſident, Thomas Eddy, ſecretary.

CITY DISPENSARY

Is intended to afford medical aid to the poor. Its funds (which are increaſing) produce an annual revenue of about 600l.

Secretary, Anthony Bleecker.

SOCIETIES AND INCORPORATED COMPANIES.

The principal ſocieties are, St. Tammany's ſociety; or, Columbian order; under the patronage of which is the American Muſeum (of New-York); St. George's ſociety; St. Patrick's; St. Andrew's; German Society; Society for the manumiſſion of ſlaves, and for protecting ſuch of them as have been liberated; Society for the relief of poor debtors confined in gaol; General Society of mechanics and tradeſmen of the city of New-York; New-York manufacturing Society; New-York Society Library; New-York Medical Society; Marine Society; Black Friars; New-York Muſical Society; St. Cecilia, Provident, and Benevolent Societies; Deaſon Society; New-York Coopers Society; Society for the information and assistance of persons emigrating from foreign countries; and Democratic Society. Several of these societies are incorporated, and some have considerable funds.

The Society for the promotion of Agriculcure, Arts and Manufactures, was incorporated on the 12th of March, 1793; and, by the act of incorporation, may hold property sufficient to produce an annual income of 2000 dollars. The design of the institution is particularly and fully set forth in the preface to the act incorporating it; the leading articles of which are, however, expressed in the name.

The following gentlemen were appointed to office by the act.

Robert R. Livingston, president,
John Slos Hobart, vice-president,
Samuel Jones, treasurer.

Samuel L. Mitchell, and Samuel Jones, jun. secretaries.

In March 1792, two companies were incorporated for the purpose of extending and improving inland navigation; one, styled, the western inland lock navigation company, in the state of New York; the other the northern. The object of the former is to open a water communication between the navigable part of Hudson's river and the lakes, Ontario and Seneca; of the latter, between the navigable part of the said river and lake Champlain. Each company is under the management of thirteen directors, who are elected on the 1st Monday in May annually. Their respective capitals are 1000 shares: and when either company shall have expended 25,000 dollars in prosecuting the object of its institution, a donation of 12,500 dollars, on the part of the state, is to be made thereto, to be expended in the same way.

BANKS.

There are three banks in the state, besides a branch of the United States bank. These are at the cities of New-York, Albany and Hudson. That of New-York was incorporated in March 1791; of Albany, April 1792; and of Columbia, at Hudson, in March 1793; and their respective acts of incorporation will expire at the same time, to wit, on the 2d Tuesday in May 1811. Each is managed by thirteen directors, who are elected annually on the 2d Tuesday in May; one of whom is to be afterwards appointed president. In regard to the bank of New-York, only eight of the directors, except the president, may, at any election be re-chosen; and in regard to each of the other, only nine.

Bank of New-York.

The number of shares are 1900; which at 500 dollars each, produce a capital of 950,000 dollars. And the whole amount of stock and capital, which the corporation may possess, may no exceed 1,000,000 dollars.

President, Gulian Verplank; cashier, Charles Wilkes.

Bank of Albany.

Its capital is constituted of 600 shares, at 400 dollars each; which amounts to 240,000 dollars, and may never exceed 260,000.

President, Abraham Ten Broeck; cashier, Garret Van Schaack.

Bank of Columbia at Hudson.

Its whole amount of stock and capital may not exceed 160,000 dollars. This is composed of 400 shares, at 400 dollars each.

President, Stephen Paddock; cashier, James Nixon.

MILITIA.

According to the returns of the Adjutant General the militia of this State, in 1791, amounted to 50,399.—The public are requested to excuse the failure of giving their officers names, this year. Another year it is hoped to be obtained.

NEW-JERSEY.

Length, 160 miles; breadth, 52; counties, 13; townſhips, 94; inhabitants, 184 139.

Brief Abſtract from the Conſtitution.

THE legiſlature of New-Jerſey is compoſed of a legiſlative council and a general aſſembly. Both branches are elected by the people, annually; viz. on the 2d Tueſday in October. They meet on the ſecond Tueſday after their election. A member of the legiſlative council muſt have been an inhabitant and freeholder in the county, in which he is choſen, one year, and worth £1000 real and perſonal eſtate;—of the general aſſembly, an inhabitant and freeholder as aforeſaid, and worth £500, real and perſonal eſtate; and electors muſt be of full age, worth £50, and have reſided a year in the country where they offer their votes. The legiſlative council is equal to one third part of the aſſembly, and at preſent each county elects one member of the former, and three of the latter.

The governor in this (and in all the ſtates to the ſouthward of it, Pennſylvania, Delaware, and Kentucky excepted) is choſen by the legiſlature. He is annually appointed; and is, ex officio, preſident of the council, chancellor and ordinary of the ſtate. The council elect a vice preſident, who, in caſe of the governor's abſence executes his office.

Judges of the ſupreme court hold their offices ſeven years; judges of the common pleas, clerks of either court, juſtices of the peace, attorney-general, and ſecretary, five years; the treaſurer, one year; and are reſpectively, with the general and field officers, appointed by the legiſlature.—Sheriffs and coroners (who may not ſerve more than three years ſucceſſively) conſtables and commiſſioners of appeals relative to unjuſt aſſeſſments, are choſen by the people yearly. And captains and ſubalterns, by the companies.

The governor and council conſtitute a court of appeals in the laſt reſort. And any three of the legiſlative, may be the governor's privy council.

LITERARY INSTITUTIONS.

In this ſtate are two colleges, ſeven academies, and ſeveral grammar ſchools of conſiderable note.

The colleges are at Princeton and Brunſwick. The former of which is called Naſſau Hall; the latter, Queen's college.

Nassau Hall.

Was founded in 1738, and enlarged in 1747.—It is now under the management of twenty-three truſtees; of the number of whom are the governor of the ſtate and preſident of the college, ex officiis.

This ſeminary ſuſtained material injury from the Britiſh troops during the late war; its library and philoſophical apparatus being nearly conſumed. The loſs is now, however, principally retrieved. The library contains between two and three thouſand volumes. And the number of ſtudents uſually reſident, amount to about ninety; beſides thoſe in the grammar ſchool annexed to it, who amount to about twenty.

The annual income of the college is about £ 900.

The following are the gentlemen concerned in inſtruction:

* Rev. John Witherspoon, D. D. preſident, and profeſſor of eloquence, criticiſm, and chronology.

Rev. Samuel Smith, D. D. vice-preſident, and profeſſor of divinity and moral philoſophy.

John Minto, L. L. D. profeſſor of mathematics and natural philoſophy.

Silas Wood, A. M. Robert Finley, A. M. tutors.

Queen's College.

Was inſtituted about the commencement of the late war. Its principal founders were a body from the Reformed Dutch Church. A grammar ſchool is connected with the college, and the number of ſtudents in both are ſaid to be about forty.

The Academies are at, Freehold, in Monmouth county; at Trenton, Hackinſack, Orangedale, in Eſſex county, Elizabeth-Town, Burlington, and Newark——The Grammar Schools, at Springfield, Morriſtown, Bordentown, and Amboy.

Some of the above are pretty well endowed, and ſupplied with able inſtructors.

MILITIA.

This ſtate contains 4 diviſions, 10 brigades, 80 battalions, 349 companies of infantry, 26 of light infantry, 11 of grenadiers, 21 troops of horſe, and 14 companies of artillery. Aggregate number enrolled 25783; exempts 3294—total 29077.—

PENNSYLVANIA.

Length, 288 miles; breadth, 156; ſquare miles, 44,900: counties, 21; inhabitants, 434,373.

Brief abſtract from the Conſtitution.

The legiſlative power is adminiſtered by a ſenate and houſe of repreſentatives; the ſupreme executive, by a governor; and the judiciary, by a ſupreme court, courts of oyer and terminer and general gaol delivery by a court of common pleas, an orphan's court, a regiſter's court, and a court of quarter ſeſſions of the peace, for each county, by juſtices of the peace, and ſuch other courts as the legiſlature may eſtabliſh.

The legiſlature and governor are elected by the freemen. Elections are on the ſecond Tueſday in October, and the legiſlature meet on the firſt in December.

The repreſentatives and a fourth part of the ſenators are elected annually. The number of repreſentatives muſt not be leſs than ſixty, nor exceed one hundred; nor of ſenators, leſs than a fourth, nor greater than a third part of the number of repreſentatives. They are reſpectively apportioned among the ſeveral counties and diſtricts agreeably to an enumeration of the taxable inhabitants therein, to be taken every ſeven years and the ſenators are divided by lot into four claſſes, and the ſeats of one claſs vacated every year. Each houſe chooſe their own officers, are judges of their own elections, &c. &c. And both houſes, by joint vote, annually chooſe the ſtate treaſurer. Repreſentatives muſt have attained to the age of twenty one, have been citizens and inhabitants of the ſtate three years previous to their election and the laſt year previous thereto, an inhabitant of the county where elected unleſs abſent on the public buſineſs of the ſtate, or of the United ſtates; ſenators muſt be twenty five, have been citizens and inhabitants, as aforeſaid, four years, and the laſt year previous to their election, of the diſtrict wherein they are elected, unleſs, &c. and electors twenty one, have reſided in the ſtate two years and paid taxes.

The governor is choſen for three years; and is not eligible more than nine years in twelve. He muſt have attained to the age of thirty, and been a citizen and inhabitant of the ſtate ſeven years, (unleſs &c.) In caſe of vacancy the ſpeaker of the ſenate officiates, as governor.

All officers, whoſe appointments are not expreſsly provided for by the conſtitution, or by law, are appointed by the governor. And among thoſe, whoſe appointments are by the conſtitution, to be regulated by law, are militia officers, all officers in the treasury department (the treasurer excepted) attornies at law, election officers, officers relating to taxes, to the poor, to highways, constables and all other township officers.—In the appointment of sheriffs and coroners, two persons are respectively nominated for each office, by the freemen in the several counties, one of whom is appointed by the governor. They serve three years, and sheriffs are not eligible more than three, in six years.—The judges, and justices of the peace hold their offices during good behaviour; and the secretary, (bene se gerente) during the governor's continuance in office.

For the jurisdictions and powers of the several courts the reader is referred to the 5th article of the constitution.

BANK.

The bank of Pennſylvania was incorporated on the 30th day of March, 1793, and is to continue a corporation till the 4th day of March, 1813. There are twenty-five directors, including the preſident; ſix of whom are appointed by the legiſlature, and nineteen by the ſtockholders annually. The election by the ſtockholders is on the firſt Monday in February.—The preſent capital conſiſts of 5000 ſhares, at 400 dollars each, which produce 2,000,000 dollars. The number of ſhares may be increaſed to 7500.

Preſident, John Barclay; Caſhier, Jonathan Mifflin.

INCORPORATED COMPANIES.

A ſpirit of enterpriſe and improvement is characteriſtic of the Pennſylvanians. And perhaps it has never appeared more conſpicuous than within theſe three or four years paſt.

Beſides ſeveral legiſlative acts for opening and improving roads and rivers, not leſs than ſeven companies have ſince the year 1790, been inſtituted for the purpoſe of extending inland navigation by locks and canals, of improving roads, by bridges and turnpikes, and of improving agriculture by the cultivation of vines. One of theſe companies was incorporated by the legiſlature on the 10th of April 1793; to wit, The Conewago Canal Company, inſtituted for the purpoſe of improving the navigation of the Suſquehannah, by locks, at Conewago falls. In regard to the others, power was veſted in the governor, at their inſtitution to incorporate them, by letters patent, when a certain proportion of their reſpective capitals ſhould be ſubſcribed.

The ſeveral canal companies beſides the Conewago, are the following, viz. The Schuylkill and Suſquehannah navigation company, inſtituted on the 29th September, 1791, for the purpoſe of uniting the waters of Tulpehoccon, Quittapahilla and Swetara. Their capital conſiſts of 1000 ſhares at 400 dollars each, payable at ſuch times as the company ſhall direct. Their election is on the firſt Monday in January.

Preſident, Robert Morris; Secretary, Timothy Matlack; Treaſurer, Tench Francis.

The Delaware and Schuylkill canal navigation Company, inſtituted on the 10th of April 1792, for the purpoſe of cutting a canal between thoſe rivers, and uniting the waters thereof. Their capital conſiſts of 2000 ſhares at 200 dollars each, payable as the company ſhall direct. They have commenced their operations, and made conſiderable progreſs therein. Their election is on the firſt Monday in January.—Preſident, Robert Morris; Secretary, William Moore Smith; Treaſurer, Tench Francis.

The Brandywine canal navigation company, inſtituted on the 10th of April 1793, (with a capital of 1500 ſhares at 200 dollars each payable as the company may direct) for the purpoſe of improving the navigation of that creek, by canal and locks.

The companies for improving roads, &c. are The Philadelphia and Lancaſter turnpike company, inſtituted on the 9th of April 1792, for the purpoſe of conſtructing an artificial road between that city and borough. Their capital conſiſts of 1000 ſhares at 300 dolls. each. They have commenced, and made very conſiderable advancements in their operations.

The Company for building a bridge over the Suſquehannah, (near Wright's ferry) inſtituted, with a capital of 700 ſhares at 150 dollars each, on the 11th of April 1793.

The Company for promoting the cultivation of vines, was inſtituted on the 22d of March, 1793; with a capital of 1000 ſhares at 20 dollars each.

In addition to the preceding companies, there are, in Philadelphia, four inſurance companies.

The Inſurance Company of North America; was inſtituted in 1792, and incorporated in 1794. Their capital conſiſts of 60,000 ſhares at ten dollars each. And their prime object is the enſuring of veſſels, and other property paſſing by ſea or land.—Ebenezer Hazard, ſecretary.

The Inſurance Company of Pennſylvania, was incorporated in 1794, upon ſimilar principles, and for like purpoſes as the preceding.

The Philadelphia contributionſhip, for enſuring houſes from loſs by fire—And,

The mutual inſurance company, whoſe object is nearly the ſame.

LITERARY INSTITUTIONS.

The American Philoſophical Society was treated of, page 89, to which the reader is referred.

The college of Phyſicians of Philadelphia, was inſtituted in 1787, and incorporated in 1789. The deſign of the inſtitution is the extention of medical knowledge, and the promotion of uniformity in the practice of phyſic. Stated meetings are held on the firſt Tueſday of every month.

Preſident, John Redman; Vice preſident, William Shippen.

There is alſo a medical ſociety, eſtabliſhed on nearly the ſame principles, of which Doctor William Shippen is preſident.

Univerſity of Pennſylvania.

The ſeminary known by this appellation was formed by the union of two literary inſtitutions, which had previouſly exiſted a conſiderable time in Philadelphia; one deſignated by the above name; the other by that of the college, academy and charitable ſchools of Philadelphia; their union took place, by an act of the legiſlature, in 1791. In conſequence of which they now conſtitute a very reſpectable ſeminary.

The library, though not as complete as that of Cambridge, is, however, reſpectable. And the Philoſophical apparatus, which was before very complete, has been lately increaſed to the value of ſeveral hundred pounds. The ſeminary is now under the management of a board of truſtees, conſiſting of twenty-four members; of whom the governor of the ſtate is, ex officio, preſident. The funds of the Univerſity produce annually, a revenue of about £2364.

The aggregate number of ſtudents, in the ſeveral ſchools, is, on an average, 510. And the number uſually admitted to degrees in each year twenty-five,

The Profeſſors and Inſtructors follow:

The Rev. JOHN EWING, D. D. provoſt, and profeſſor of natural philoſophy.

The Rev. John Andrews, D. D. vice provoſt, and profeſſor of moral philoſophy.

Dickinſon College, at Carliſle.

This was founded in the year 1783. It is a flouriſhing inſtitution, having the uſual number of about eighty reſident ſtudents. It has a philoſophical apparatus, and a library conſiſting of nearly 3000 vols. Its funds conſiſt chiefly of land and funded certificates; of the former to the amount of 10,000 acres, of the latter, £4000.

The Inſtructors are,

The Rev. CHARLES NESBITT. D. D. profeſſor of divinity.

Robert Davidſon, D. D. profeſſor of natural philoſophy.

James M'Cormack, profeſſor of mathematics.

Davis, teacher of languages.

Beſides the preceding inſtitutions there are ſeveral excellent academies, in different parts of the ſtate; among which may be reckoned the Friends academy in Philadelphia; the Moravian ſchools at Bethlehem and Nazareth; the Young Ladies Academy in Philadelphia, of which Mr. John Poor is principal; the Epiſcopal academy at York town; and the academies of Germantown, Allenſtown, Pittſburgh, and Waſhington.

The Philadelphia library may properly be ranked among the literary inſtitutions of the ſtate. It is indeed a moſt valuable one, and eſtabliſhed upon the moſt liberal principles. It contains about 12,000 volumes, and is open every day in the week, Sundays excepted. Any perſon who has a taſte for reading may here indulge it to great advantage; and any one, wiſhing it, may receive books out of the library by leaving a depoſit, as a ſecurity for the return, and paying a moderate tax for the loan of it.

The proprietors amount to ſeveral hundred, are incorporated and pay annually 10ſ each, for the purpoſe of making additions and defraying expenſes.

A Muſeum is attached to the Library.

Librarian, Zachariah Poulſon.

Peale's Museum.

At the Philoſophical Hall in Fifth-ſtreet, Philadelphia, contains, perhaps, the moſt valuable collection of the ſubjects of natural hiſtory to be met with in this country. It is juſtly conſidered as an important acquiſition to ſcience, and the arts; and its utility is conſtantly becoming more and more extenſive, from the frequent additions, which the indefatigable efforts and perſeverance of the proprietor (Mr. Peale) is continually making.—He anticipates the idea, that it will, ere long, become a great ſource of national information; and that the riſing generation will reap peculiar benefits from its inſtitution.

He has generouſly pledged himſelf, that the ſubjects of his Muſeum ſhall not be diſpoſed of without the conſent of a number of gentlemen, who, by his own invitation, are formed into a ſociety for viſiting and inſpecting it.

Humane and other Societies.

It will not comport with the limits of the Regiſter to be particular in reſpect to the various inſtitutions, which come under this denomination.

The recital of them and the ſeveral objects to be obtained from their eſtabliſhment muſt therefore, in moſt caſes, ſuffice.

The Pennſylvania Hoſpital is a moſt uſeful, as well as humane inſtitution. The deſign of it was firſt conceived by Doctor Thomas Bond, about 40 years ago. And in the year 1756 a part of the preſent buildings were erected. And from that time till May 1793, 8608 patients have been admitted into it; of whom, 5435 have been cured; and 925 relieved

It has now a capital of £17,065. And its object is the relief of the indigent, labouring under maladies, either of body or mind.

The Philadelphia Diſpenſary was eſtabliſhed in 1786, for the purpoſe of affording medical relief to the indigent ſick. Upwards of eleven thouſand patients have been already admitted into it.

The Humane Society for the purpoſe of recovering perſons apparently dead from drowning, &c. was inſtituted in 1780.

The Houſe of Employment, (or, as it is more uſually denominated, The Bettering Houſe) is a humane inſtitution for the relief and employment of ſuch perſons as are able to labour, but cannot, or will not, find employment.

The Friends Alms Houſe is an inſtitution ſomewhat, though not in all reſpects, ſimilar to the laſt, for the uſe of that ſociety.

The Abolition Society was inſtituted in 1774, and enlarged in 1787. Its ſpecific object is the emancipation of the African race; and their efforts have, hitherto, been very ſucceſsful in behalf of that people.

The Philadelphia Society for promoting Agriculture was inſtituted in 1785, and has been productive of conſiderable improvements in the art.

The remaining ſocieties are. St. Andrew's, St. George's, The German Incorporated, The Hibernian, The Philadelphia, for the information and aſſiſtance of perſons emigrating from foreign countries, and French Benevolent Societies; The French Patriotic. German Republican, and Democratic Societies; and The Shipmaſters, The Franklin, Caledonian, Union, Friendly & Provident Societies.*

* Conſiſting of Printers, and named in honour of Dr. Franklin.

DELAWARE.

Length, 92 miles; breadth, 24; square miles, 2000; counties, 3; hundreds, —; inhabitants, 59,094.

Brief abstract from the Constitution.

The constitutions of Delaware and Pennsylvania being very similar, it will be easier, as we have given an abstract from the latter, to note the variations between the two, than to attempt a particular detail of the former.

The principal variations, with regard to the legislatures, respect their qualifications, the time of their election and meeting, and the classing of the senators. A representative must, in Delaware, be twenty-four years of age, have a freehold in the county, and have been three years a citizen and inhabitant of the state, and the last year, previous to his election, of the county wherein he is chosen, unless he may have been absent on the public business of the state, or of the United States. The number is at present twenty-one, being seven in each county. A senator must be twenty-seven years of age, have a freehold within the county, in 200 acres of land, or real and personal estate to the value of £1000, and have been a citizen and inhabitant, as in case of a representative. The present number is nine; three in a county. They are divided into three classes, and the seats of one class vacated every year. Electors are required to have the same qualifications as in Pennsylvania. And elections are on the first Tuesday in October, and the meeting of the legislature, on the first in January.

The governor, secretary, treasurer, sheriffs, and coronors, are appointed in the same manner, for the same time, and with the same limitation with regard to their re-appointment, as in Pennsylvania; excepting that the governor is not eligible more than three in six years. He is required to be thirty years of age, to have been a citizen and inhabitant of the United States twelve years; and of this state seven, previous to his administration: (unless &c.) He has the appointment of officers, as the governor of Pennsylvania has; and the class of inferior officers, whose appointments are there, are here, by the constitution, dependent on the laws. The speaker of the senate (and in default of him, the speaker of the house of representatives) officiates as governor, in case of vacancy. In addition to the legal tribunals established by the constitution of Pennsylvania, that of Delaware recognizes a court of chancery. The chancellor, and judges of the supreme court, and court of common pleas, hold their offices during good behaviour; and justices of the peace, bene se gerentibus, seven years Members of either branch of the legiſlature, the chancellor, judges of the ſupreme court and common pleas, and the attorney general, are, ex officiis, conſervators of the peace through the ſtate; and the treaſurer, ſecretary, clerks of the ſupreme court, prothonotaries, regiſters, recorders, ſheriffs, and coroners, in the counties in which they reſpectively reſide.

MARYLAND.

Length, 134 miles; breadth, 110; containing 19 counties, 11 of which are on the weſtern, and 8 on the eaſtern ſhore of Cheſapeak Bay; and 319,728 inhabitants.

Brief abſtract from the Conſtitution.

The legiſlative power is adminiſtered by a ſenate, and houſe of delegates; and the ſupreme executive, by a governor and an executive council.

The ſenate is not elected immediately by the people, as is the houſe of delegates; but mediately by electors choſen by the people, each county chooſing two, and Annapolis and Baltimore, each, one. It conſiſts of fifteen members, nine from the Weſtern, and ſix from the Eaſtern ſhore; who are choſen (as are their electors) every fifth year.

The houſe of delegates is elected annually; to wit, on the firſt Monday in October, and is compoſed of four members from each county, two from the city of Annapolis, and two from the town of Baltimore. They meet on the 1ſt Monday in November.

The governor, and council, (conſiſting of five members) are elected by the legiſlature on the ſecond Monday in November annually. The governor preſides in council, ex officio, and has a caſting vote; and in caſe of vacancy, the oldeſt counſellor acts as governor, but muſt forthwith convene the legiſlature for a new election.

It is required, that the governor, at the time of his election, be above twenty-five years of age, have reſided more than five years in the ſtate, be worth above five thouſand pounds, and that the ſame perſon, be ineligible more than three, in ſeven years; that the ſenators and counſellors be above twenty-five years old, have reſided in the ſtate above three years, and that the latter be freeholders of lands and tenements to the value of above a thouſand pounds, and the former worth above a thouſand pounds real and perſonal eſtate; that the delegates and electors of ſenators be above twenty one years of age, have reſided more than a year in their reſpective counties, and be worth above five hundred pounds; and that voters for delegates, &c. be above twenty-one, have freeholds in 50 acres of land in the county where they vote and reſide therein, or that they have property in the ſtate to the amount of thirty pounds, and have reſided in the county one year.

The governor, with the council, has the appointment of the chancellor, judges and juſtices, the attorney general, and regiſters of the land office; who, with the clerks of the general and county courts, and regiſters of wills continue in office during good behaviour; alſo of ſurveyors, of militia, and all civil officers except aſſeſſors, conſtables, and overſeers of roads.

The treaſurers, auditors, and loan officers are appointed by the houſe of delegates, during their pleaſure. Regiſters of wills are recommended by the legiſlature and commiſſioned by the governor. And the clerks of the ſeveral courts are appointed by the reſpective judges thereof.

In the election of ſheriffs, two perſons are balloted for in each county, and the one having a majority of votes (or both being equal, either at his diſcretion) is commiſſioned by the governor. They are appointed for three years, after the expiration of which they are ineligible for four years; muſt reſide in the county, and be worth above a thouſand pounds.

All civil officers appointed by the governor, and not holding their offices during good behaviour, are appointed annually.

LITERARY INSTITUTIONS.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND.

This is composed of two colleges—Washington College at Chestertown, in Kent county, instituted in 1782—It is under the management of twenty-four visiters, or governors, and may hold estates, whose yearly value does not exceed £6000 currency:—By a law enacted in 1787, a permanent fund was granted to this institution, of £1250, out of the monies arising from marriage licences, fines, and forfeitures, on the Eastern-shore:

ST. JOHN'S is the other college in this institution; situated at Annapolis, was instituted in 1784, has also twenty four trustees, who have power to hold, as a corporation, estates of £ 9000 annual income. A permanent fund is assigned this college, of £ 1750 a year out of the monies arising from marriage licences, ordinary licences, fines and forfeitures on the Western shore. The governor of the state, for the time being, is chancellor, and the president of one of them; vice-chancellor, either by seniority or election, as may be hereafter determined. The chancellor is empowered to call a meeting of the trustees, or a representation of seven of them and two of the members of the faculty of each, (the principal or president being one:) which meeting is styled, "The convocation of the University of Maryland." They are to frame laws, preserve uniformity of manners, and instruction in the two colleges, &c.

Presidents, John M Dowell, Colin Ferguson.
Professors, Rev. Mr. Higginbottom, Rev. Mr. M'Grath.

The Roman Catholics have also a college at Georgetown.
President, Mr. Plunket.

In 1785 the Methodists instituted a college at Abington in Hartford county, called Cokesbury.

Brief Abſtract from the Conſtitution.

IN Virginia the ſupreme executive magiſtrate, or governor, the privy council, judges of the ſuperior courts, auditors, attorney-general, treaſurer, regiſter of the land office, and generals of the militia, are appointed by the legiſlature; juſtices of the peace are recommended by the county courts, and military officers, other than generals, by the county and corporation courts, and commiſſioned by the executive; clerks of the courts, ſheriffs and coroners are appointed by the reſpective courts, the two latter to be approved by the executive; and conſtables, by the juſtices.

The legiſlature conſiſts of a ſenate and houſe of delegates; the ſenate, of twenty-four members, who are divided into four claſſes, and the ſeats of one claſs vacated every year; the houſe of delegates, of two members from each county, one from each of the cities of Richmond and Williamſburg, and one from the borough of Norfolk; who, with one claſs of the ſenate, are elected annually. Senators are required to be twenty-five years of age; and both ſenators and delegates to be freeholders, reſident, at the time of their election, in the county or diſtrict for which they are reſpectively choſen; and to be elected by freeholders, ſeized of one hundred acres of uninhabited land, or of twenty-five acres with a houſe, or of a houſe or lot in ſome town.

The governor is elected annually, and is ineligible more than three, in ſeven years.—The privy council, or council of ſtate, conſiſts of eight members; and may be elected either from the legiſlature, or the citizens at large. Two members are, once every three years removed, and their places ſupplied, by the joint ballot of both houſes; and the perſons ſo removed are ineligible during the next three years. The eldeſt counſellor is, ex officio lieutenant governor.

The judges of the ſuperior courts hold their offices during behaviour. The treaſurer is elected annually.

Literary Institutions.

There are two colleges and a number of respectable academies in Virginia.

William and Mary University

Was founded during the reign of the sovereigns of England from whom it derives its name. We can say little as to its endowments and accommodations.—It was originally under the superintendancy of 20 visitors; and has been an institution of considerable note.

Right Rev. James Madison, D. D. president.

Hampden-Sydney College

Is situate in Prince Edward county. It was formerly only an academy; but has of late been erected into a college. There are said to be at present, between thirty and forty students resident at it. It is under the care of 27 trustees; but being without public funds, it has not been conducted on a very extensive scale. There have been, however, a number of useful public characters educated there, who appear with respectability in the different learned professions, and in the legislature of their country.

Rev. Drury Lacy, A. M. vice-president.

There is also an incorporated Academy, called Liberty-Hall, situated in Rockbridge county, at present under the direction of the Rev. William Graham, A. M. and —— Trustees. It has been remarkable for furnishing a supply of preachers to the southern churches.

There are also Academies at Alexandria, Fredericksburg, the Bowling-Green, in Caroline county, Hanover and Norfolk.

Brief Abstract from the Constitution.

This constitution was formed and adopted in 1792. Agreeably to which, the governor and senate are chosen by electors; the house of representatives and electors, by the people. The former are chosen once in four years, and the house of representatives, annually. The number of representatives cannot exceed 100, nor be less than 40; and the senate at first consisting of eleven, is to increase with the house of representatives, in the ratio of one to four. The annual convention of the legislature is on the first Monday in November.—The constitutional qualifications of candidates for offices, or of voters appear to be such only as are necessary to mature the mental faculties, and to secure an attachment to the state. Of candidates for the office of governor, it is required that they have attained to the age of thirty; to that of senator, twenty-seven; of representative, twenty-four; and that they have been, in either case, inhabitants of the state, two years. Of voters, it is required that they be twenty-one years old, and have been inhabitants of the state, two years, or of the county in which they vote, one year.

The judiciary power is vested in a court of appeals, and such subordinate courts as the legislature may establish. The judges continue in office during good behaviour; and are appointed, as are most executive officers, by the governor with advice of the senate.

The speaker of the senate officiates as governor, in case of vacancy.

Brief Abſtract from the Conſtitution.

The moſt numerous branch of the legiſlature is, in this ſtate, ſtyled, the Houſe of Commons: the other branch, the Senate. Both are elected annually; and in their election, each county chooſes one ſenator, and two commoners; and each of the towns of Edenton, Newbern, Wilmington, Salisbury, Hillſborough, Halifax, and Fayetteville, one commoner.

To be eligible as ſenator a year's reſidence in the county, and, during that time, a fee ſimple therein, in 300 acres of land, are required; as commoner, like reſidence, and, during ſix months, a fee ſimple, or freehold eſtate in one hundred acres of land. To be qualified to vote for ſenators, reſidence as aforeſaid, full age, and freehold eſtate in fifty acres of land are required; for commoners, the two former qualifications and having paid taxes, or a freehold and year's reſidence in ſome town having a right to particular repreſentation, and having paid taxes.

The governor is choſen by the legiſlature annually, and is ineligible more than three in ſix years. He is required to be above thirty years of age, to have reſided in the ſtate more than five years, and to have freehold eſtate exceeding the value of £1000. He is ſtyled, captain general, &c.

The ſpeaker of the Senate (and in default of him, the ſpeaker of the Houſe of Commons) acts as governor, in caſe of vacancy by death, &c.

A council of ſtate, compoſed of ſeven members, is alſo annually appointed by the legiſlature. Their buſineſs is to adviſe the governor in the execution of his office. Four form a quorum.

The legiſlature appoint the judges and attorney general, and recommend the juſtices of the peace, who are reſpectively commiſſioned by the governor, and continue in office during good behaviour; they alſo appoint the ſecretary, triennially; the treaſurer, annually; and general and field officers of the militia, during pleaſure.

And when any office, the appointment to which belongs to the legiſlature, becomes vacant during their receſs, the governor grants a temporary commiſſion which expires at the end of the next ſeſſion.

The city of Raleigh, in Wake county, is the ſeat of government.

Brief abſtract from the Conſtitution.

THE conſtitution of this ſtate, in ſeveral reſpects, and particularly in the conſtruction of the legiſlature, bears a ſtrong reſemblance to that of the United States.

The houſe of repreſentatives is compoſed of members choſen for two years; the ſenate, of members choſen for four. The ſenators are alſo claſſed, and the ſeats of one half their number vacated and re-filled at every election of repreſentatives. The number of repreſentatives is 124; of ſenators, 37. The general election is biennial, on the ſecond Monday in October; and the convention of the legiſlature annual, on the fourth in November. They meet at Columbia.

Moſt of the executive, as well as judiciary officers, are appointed by the legiſlature; the governor and lieutenant-governor being appointed for two years; the judges during good behaviour; and the commiſſioners of the treaſury, ſecretary of the ſtate, ſurveyor general and ſheriffs, for four years reſpectively. The governor having ſerved two years, and any ſheriff, four, are ineligible during the next four.

In default of the governor, the lieutenant governor executes the office of chief Magiſtrate; and in default of both, the preſident of the ſenate.

No ſpecific courts are recognized by the conſtitution; but the judiciary power is delegated to ſuch ſuperior and inferior courts as the legiſlature may eſtabliſh.

To be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant governor, candidates muſt be thirty years of age; have reſided ten years in the ſtate, and have free holds to the amount £1500 ſterling, clear of debt:—to that of ſenator, a candidate muſt have the firſt of the preceding qualifications; muſt have reſided in the ſtate five years; and if, at the time of election, he be a reſident of the diſtrict in which he is elected, he muſt have a free hold eſtate to the amount of £300 ſterling clear of debt; otherwiſe to the amount of £1000:—to that of a repreſentative, a free white man of the age of twenty-one; have reſided in the ſtate three years; and, if a reſident of the diſtrict, &c. he muſt have a free hold in 500 acres of land, and ten negroes, or in ſome real eſtate to the amount of £150 ſterling, clear of debt—if non-reſident, to the amount of £500. And to be qualified to vote for members of either branch of the legiſlature, the voter muſt be a free white man of the age of twenty-one, have reſided in the ſtate two years, and have a free-hold in 50 acres of land, or a town-lot; or (not having ſuch free-hold or lot) have reſided in the election-diſtrict, ſix months, and paid a tax, to the amount of 3s ſterling.

GEORGIA.

Length, 1600 miles; breadth, 250; counties, 11; inhabitants, 82,548.

Brief abſtract from the Conſtitution.

The election of ſenators is, in this ſtate, triennial; of repreſentatives in general aſſembly, annual, on the 1ſt Monday in October; and the legiſlature convene, on the 1ſt Monday in November.

They appoint the governor, and all executive and other ſtate officers; excepting thoſe of the militia, and the governor's ſecretaries, who are appointed by the governor. The election of governor is biennial; in the proſecution of which, as of all legiſlative appointments, three perſons are firſt balloted for by the houſe of repreſentatives, one of whom is afterwards elected by the ſenate.

In caſe of vacancy, by death or otherwiſe, in the office of governor, the preſident of the ſenate officiates.

One ſuperior court is eſtabliſhed, which ſets ſemi-annually in every county. Courts of appeals, and ſubordinate juriſdictions are dependent on the laws for their eſtabliſhment. The judges of the ſuperior court, and attorney general are commiſſioned for three years.

The conſtitutional qualifications for governor, are 500 acres of land, or other eſtate to the amount of £.1000 ſterling, thirty years of age, twelve years reſidence in the United States, and ſix in Georgia; for ſenator, 250 acres of land, or an eſtate worth £.250, twenty-eight years of age, nine years reſidence in the United States, three in Georgia, and ſix months in the county in which he is choſen; for repreſentative, 200 acres of land, or an eſtate worth £.150, twenty-one years of age, ſeven years reſidence in the United States, two in Georgia, and three months in the county; for electors of either branch of the legiſlature, twenty one years of age, two years reſidence in the ſtate, ſix months in the county, and payment of taxes the preceeding year.

The number of repreſentatives fixed by the conſtitution, is at preſent, 34; but may be increaſed, as new counties are laid off in vacant parts of the ſtate. The number of ſenators is one for each county.

The representatives are apportioned among the several counties, as follows:

Camden	2	Chatham	6
Glynn	2	Wilkes	6
Liberty	4	Washington	2
Effingham	2	Green	2
Burke	4	Franklin	2
Richmond	4

An important article in this constitution is the regulation of descents upon principles of equality. By section 6. article 4. estates may not be entailed. The widow of an intestate has her option, either to have her dower, or a child's share; the intestate leaving wife and children. But leaving no wife, the estate is to be equally divided among the children and their representatives of the first degree.

By the help of the preceding table the sun's rising and setting may be determined for any place within the latitude of the United States. To render the method of doing which, perfectly easy to every capacity, very little explanation is necessary. First, find his declination on any given day, in the fourth column of the calendar page; then, having the latitude of the place, enter the table with the degree of latitude and declination, and (making allowance for the minutes) in the angular point, where the latitude and declination meet, is his rising, when the declination is south, and setting, when north. Having found the rising, or setting, subtract it from 12 hours, the remainder will be, in the former case, the setting; in the latter, the rising.

In like manner may be determined the rising and setting of a planet, or star, whose declination does not exceed 23d. 29m. first finding the time it culminates, or passes the meridian, (which is done by subtracting the sun's from the star's right ascension; or, where the sun's right ascension is the largest, from the stars right ascension increased by 24 hours) then subtracting therefrom the time found in the table, for the rising, and adding thereto the same time, for the setting.—

EXAMPLES.

I. Required the sun's rising and setting at Philadelphia on the 1st day of January? Latitude of Philadelphia 39d. 56m.

Sun's declination, south	22 58
By the table, sun rises	7h. 28m.
which subtract from	12
remains his setting	4 37

II. Required the culminating, rising and setting of Arcturus, at Boston, on the 17th day of May? Arcturus' right ascension 14h. 5m.

Sun's do. subtract	3 37
Arcturus culminates	10 28 P. M.
latitude of Boston	42d. 25m.
Arcturus' declination	20 17nor.
by the table	7 20
Arcturus rises	3 8 P.M
——— sets	17 48 do.
	or, 18d. 5 48A.M.

N. B. Right ascension is that point of the equinoctial which comes to the meridian with any heavenly body. And if the sun's right ascension be less than that of any other heavenly body, such body culminates after noon: but if larger, it culminates before noon.

The twelve signs or constellations, with the parts of the Human body which they respectively govern.

♈ Aries, the Head and Face.	♎ Libra, the Reigns.
♉ Taurus, the Neck.	♏ Scorpio, the Secrets.
♊ Gemini, the Arms.	♐ Sagitarius, the Thighs.
♋ Cancer, the Breast.	♑ Capricorn, the Knees.
♌ Leo, the Heart.	♒ Aquarius, the Legs.
♍ Virgo, the Bowels.	♓ Pisces, the Feet.
